

ThriveOn Releases THRIVE II: This Is What It Takes Energy Teaser on October 15, 2020

With a vision for a healthy planet free from pollution and centralized control, Thrive II: This is What It Takes releases teaser video documenting never-before seen breakthrough technologies.

LOS ANGELES, CA – (October 15, 2020) – In the midst of growing pollution and restricted access to clean, decentralized energy, THRIVE II: This Is What It Takes creators, Foster Gamble and Kimberly Carter Gamble, announced the release of a teaser with never-before documented breakthrough technologies. Available exclusively at ThriveOn, this female-narrated energy teaser highlights the world-changing technologies that they showcase in their landmark sequel to their first film: Thrive: What on Earth Will it Take?, which garnered over 90 million documented views and was translated into 27 languages.

THRIVE II: This Is What It Takes, which premiered on September 26, 2020, demonstrates the suppression of viable technologies that have the power to unleash the stranglehold of the oil industry in determining access to and quality of energy production and transmission.

As the film follows a journey across the globe investigating the most promising solutions in energy, health, consciousness, and non-coercive self-organizing while unpacking the underlying science, principles, and strategies that make them possible. As one reviewer exclaimed, it is the “Noah’s Ark of films, providing all that we need to create a thriving world.”

The film features prominent scientists, healers, shamans and philosophers such as Nassim Hamein, Gregg Braden, Dr. Kelly Brogan, Dr. Bruce Lipton, Dr. Robert O. Young, Dr. Galina Migalko, Dr. Beth McDougall, Maxwell Chikumbutso, Stefan Molyneux, Larken Rose, Dr. Mary Ruwart, Taito Juanito, Mitra Politi and others.
